No. 20040063431) discloses, the packet data service instance establishing for the mobile station 40 must be register with supporting PDSN 32 so that packet data traffic can be properly routed between the PDSN 32 and mobile 40 (see page 3, section [0028]) and mobile station 40, which is associated with multiple dormant packet data service instances, detects a change of PZID, SID or NID while monitoring one or more broadcast channels and initiate that the Data Ready to Send (DRS) bit set '0' to indicate that it has no data to send (see page 4, section [0036]). However, Julka and the prior art of record fail to disclose, a mobile station capable of establishing a plurality of data sessions with a first base station of a wireless network, wherein said mobile station is capable of reactivating at least a dormant first data session and a dormant second data session by transmitting to said first base station an Origination message, said Origination message comprising: a first Data Ready to Send (DRS) field indicating to said first base station that said dormant first data session is being reactivated; and a second Data Ready to Send (DRS) field indicating that said dormant second data session is being reactivated, as cited in claims 1, 6, 11 and 15.
